

Wealth and Poverty in the PRC

Instructor: Deborah Davis

Deborah.davis@yale.edu

Course Description:

In terms of substantive focus, this series of lectures and readings explores the underlying causes and social consequences of the changing distribution of power, status and wealth in the PRC between 1978 and 2005. Although required background readings privilege scholarly work published in English, lectures and class discussion will draw on a wider range of sources and feature comparisons between different scholarly traditions. Therefore, a major goal of the seminar in terms of research training is for students to become adept at understanding how choice of target audience and scholarly conventions shape theoretical paradigms and the ability to maximize the fieldwork experience.

清大人社院 A202

February 26 : Macro-growth and Changing Rules of the Game (Mon-18 : 20- 21 : 10)

February 27 : Poverty and Hardship (Tue-18 : 20- 21 : 10)

March 1 : Inequalities of Income, Wealth, Security, and Opportunity (Thu-18 : 20- 21 : 10)

March 2 : When Gender Matters (Fri-18 : 20- 21 : 10)

March 3 : Occupational and Social Mobility (Sat- 13:00-16:00)

March 5 : 台北公開演講（台大法學院國際會議廳）：

China Studies in Asia, EU, North America: Global Convergence? (Mon-19:00-21:00)